Detailed Action

The response filed 8/10/07 presents remarks and arguments to the office action mailed 5/16/07. Applicants' request for reconsideration of the rejection of claims in the last office action has been considered.

Applicants' arguments, filed, have been fully considered but they are not deemed to be persuasive. Rejections and/or objections not reiterated from previous office actions are hereby withdrawn. The following rejections and/or objections are either reiterated or newly applied. They constitute the complete set presently being applied to the instant application.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 49-56 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Levinson et al., US 6479,545 in view of <http://www.vitaminworld.com/pages/file> (of record).

Levinson et al. teach administering a composition which provide improved nutritional support for the relief of symptoms associated with menopause. See abstract, where in the composition comprises methionine as required by instant claim

Art Unit: 1614

49. See co. 14, lines 65-67.

<http://www.vitaminworld.com/pages/file>, Vitamin world sells L-methionine as single unit in tablet forms of 500 mg as required by instant claims 49-56.

The difference between the instant application and Levinson et al. reference is that Levinson et al. do not expressly teach the L-form of methionine.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the claimed invention was made to use the L-form of methionine, as suggested by Vitaminworld, and produce the instant invention.

One of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to do this because L-methionine is a protein amino acid, classified as an essential amino acid and therefore must be supplied in that form. Therefore one of ordinary skill in the art would have been motivated to combine the teaching of the prior art and administer methionine to patients suffering from hot flash because the prior art teaches methionine is administered to patients suffering from menopausal symptoms. One such symptom is hot flash absent factual evidence.

A reference is good not only for what it teaches by direct anticipation but also for what one of ordinary skill in the art might reasonably infer from the teachings. (In re Opprecht 12 USPQ 2d 1235, 1236 (Fed Cir. 1989); In re Bode 193 USPQ 12 (CCPA) 1976).

Art Unit: 1614

In light of the forgoing discussion, the Examiner concludes that the subject matter defined by the instant claims would have been obvious within the meaning of 35 USC 103(a).

From the teachings of the references, it is apparent that one of ordinary skill in the art would have had a reasonable expectation of success in producing the claimed invention. Therefore, the invention as a whole was prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, as evidenced by the references, especially in the absence of evidence to the contrary.

No claim is allowed.
